The InteRoots Initiative partners with projects both domestically and internationally. InteRoots works with communities - on their own terms - as they develop and implement sustainable solutions for self-identified needs. In pursuit of this mission, InteRoots works as a partner and facilitator, assisting in the development of systems of accountability unique to partner projects, and working to remove barriers between communities and the resources they need to achieve change. Ultimately, InteRoots steps aside once a project is financially independent, thus redefining the legacies of charitable giving. Rather than designing, implementing and evaluating projects from the top down, InteRoots believes that communities know best what they need, and can accomplish these steps from the roots up.

Part I, Line 2 - Procedures for Monitoring the Use of Grant Funds

Grants awarded by InteRoots are segmented into multiple "microgrants" in support of multi-year projects. These microgrants are applied for individually, and are subject to review by the InteRoots Board of Directors or an appointed subcommittee dedicated to oversight of a project. No microgrant is awarded until previous microgrants have been confirmed as compliant with grant terms. This process allows for continued engagement and oversight in partnership with communities. InteRoots also engages in fiscal sponsorship agreements for outside grants when appropriate under the same structure of review.
